The inaugural session of the International Conference on Harmonizing Graph Theory and Differential Equations in the Age of Industry 4.0 commenced with a serene rendition of a prayer song by II M.Sc. Students. The welcome speech was delivered by Dr. T. Sheeba Helen, the Head of the Department of Mathematics, Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil, who extended a warm welcome to all distinguished guests, keynote speakers, delegates and participants for gracing the occasion with their presence. The Inaugural Address was delivered by Dr. Sr. M. Mary Gilda, the Secretary of Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil-629004. Her insightful remarks provided a framework for the conference deliberations and inspired participants to explore new frontiers in research and application. Dr. Sr. S. Sahayasweli, the Principal of Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil felicitated the gathering and emphasized the significance of the conference in fostering global collaboration and knowledge exchange. The keynote address was delivered by Dr. Sandra Pinelas, a leading expert in Delay Differential Equations, presented the cutting-edge research findings and shared insights into emerging trends and opportunities in the intersection of mathematics and industry. The vote of thanks was delivered by Dr. A. Jancy Vini, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, who expressed heartfelt gratitude to all the participants, organizers and supporters for their invaluable contributions to the success of the event.

Following the tea break, the conference transitioned into its first technical session, Dr. Sandra Pinelas highlighted the relevance of DDEs with impulse in modelling real-world phenomena across diverse domains, such as biology, physics, engineering and economics. The talk stimulates further research and fosters collaboration among mathematicians and scientists interested in the dynamics of complex systems governed by Delay Differential Equations with impulse.

Following a brief intermission, the conference reconvened for its second technical session, which delved further into advanced concepts and methodologies in Derivative Graphs of Exponential Functions with Applications. Dr. G. Brito Antony Xavier grabbed the attention of the audience with his unique way of orating the mathematical concepts. He interacted with the scholars and students and clarified their doubts in an easy way of understanding.

Following a rejuvenating lunch break, the conference resumed with a series of paper presentations, providing researchers and practitioners with a platform to showcase their latest findings and innovations. Dr. T. Binu Selin, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, Scott Christian College (Autonomous), Nagercoil and Rev. Dr. S. John Borg, Assistant Professor, Sacred Heart College (Autonomous), Tirupattur - 635 601 presided as the session chair guiding the proceedings with expertise and enthusiasm. The paper presentation session facilitated knowledge sharing, fostered interdisciplinary exchange, and provided valuable insights into Graph Theory, Differential Equations and Industry 4.0.

Date & Time : 13th February, 2024 & 9.00 a.m - 3.15 p.m.

- Resource Person : Dr. J. Paulraj Joseph, Professor & Head (Retd.), Department of Mathematics, Manonmaniam Sundaraman University, Tirunelveli - 627 012.

Title : Topological Indices and Energy in Graphs

Mode : Offline - Multi Purpose Hall, Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil.

On the second day of the conference the third technical session started with the presentation of Dr. J. Paulraj Joseph on Recent Developments in Graph Theory. In an enthusiastic way he motivated the listeners for do more researches in Graph Theory. He had an impressive interaction with the audience and cleared the doubts of the participants. After the tea break, the fourth technical session started with the presentation of Dr. A. Rizwana, on "Topological Indices and Energy in Graphs". This session brings the collaboration of chemistry with mathematics with applications. It was an innovative session which encouraged the audience to overlook the

Abstract

A vertex labeling $h: V(G) \rightarrow \{0, 1, 2, 3\}$ is said to be perfect mean cordial labeling of a graph G if it induces an edge labeling h^* defined as follows :

$$h^*(uv) = \begin{cases} 1 & \text{if } 2|(h(u) + h(v)) \\ 0 & \text{otherwise} \end{cases} \quad \text{for all } uv \in E(G)$$

with the condition that $|e_h(0) - e_h(1)| \leq 1$ and $|v_h(\alpha) - v_h(\beta)| \leq 1$ for all $\alpha, \beta \in \{0, 1, 2, 3\}$, where $e_h(\delta)$ is number of edges label with δ ($\delta = 0, 1$) and $v_h(\lambda)$ denote the number of vertices labeled with λ ($\lambda = 0, 1, 2, 3$). A graph G is said to be perfect mean cordial graph if it admits a perfect mean cordial labeling. In this paper, we investigate $[P_n : S_k]$ graphs are perfect mean cordial graphs.

Key words: Perfect mean cordial graph, perfect mean cordial labeling.

AMS classification: 05C78.

1 Introduction

In the present era, Graph Theory has become a highly challenging and interesting area for the study of numerous mathematicians and computer experts. Since it has many applications and scope for various researches, it has attracted the attention of the erudite scholars who have the overwhelming desire for updating the field of mathematics. Particularly graph labeling has become a widely popular and area of concern, since it offers wide range of applications. A graph labeling is an assignment of integers to the vertices or the edges, or both, subject to certain conditions. If the vertices of the graph are assigned values subject to certain conditions is known as graph labeling.

In 1987, Cahit introduced the concept of cordial labeling as a weaker version

Report on Haemoglobin Test Program at Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil

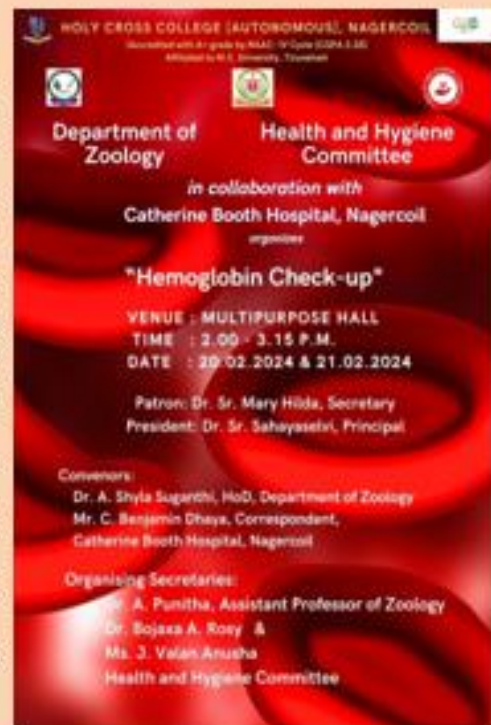

Date: February 20th - 21st, 2024

The Haemoglobin Test Program, conducted from February 20th to 21st, 2024, was a joint initiative by the Department of Zoology and the Health and Hygiene Committee of Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil, in collaboration with our industrial partner, Catherine Booth Hospital, Nagercoil, as per our Memorandum of Understanding (MoU). Over the two-day program, first-year undergraduate students underwent haemoglobin tests facilitated by medical professionals from Catherine Booth Hospital. Following the tests, personalized counseling sessions and general health-related advice were given to the students whose Hb levels read 8 or below. The program was convened by Dr. A. Shyla Suganthi, Associate Professor & HoD, of Zoology and Dr. Benjamin Dhaya, Correspondent, Catherine Booth Hospital and organized by Dr. Bojaso, Assistant Professor of Botany and Coordinator of Health & Hygiene committee and Dr. Punitha, Assistant Professor of Zoology.

No of beneficiaries: 171

Feedback and Impact:

Participants appreciated the opportunity and found the counseling sessions informative and beneficial. The collaborative effort between Holy Cross College and Catherine Booth Hospital was instrumental in providing high-quality healthcare services, thereby enhancing the program's effectiveness.

Report for the Workshop On

Hardware Training and Product development Consultancy

The Hardware Training and Product Development workshop, held on January 19, 2024, at St. Xavier Catholic College of Engineering's computer lab, was a transformative experience for participants eager to delve into the intricacies of hardware technologies. Dr. Jemila Xavier, in her inaugural address, set an inspiring tone, emphasising the significance of staying abreast of technological advancements. Mr. M Robert and Mr. Oliver, as resource persons, brought a wealth of expertise to the sessions. Mr. M .Robert delivered into hardware architecture and design principles, while Mr. Oliver shared invaluable insights into the product development lifecycle. Practical lab sessions allowed participants to translate theoretical knowledge into hands-on skills, enhancing their proficiency in hardware components, troubleshooting, and product prototyping.

Group activities and team projects encouraged participants to work collectively, creating a sense of community among budding hardware engineers. The event succeeded not only in imparting knowledge but in building a platform for future collaboration and innovation. The organisers, by bringing together distinguished experts and providing a conducive environment for practical learning, demonstrated a commitment to nurturing the next generation of hardware professionals. Overall, the Hardware Training and Product Development workshop proved to be a dynamic and enriching experience, equipping participants with both theoretical insights and practical skills essential for success in the ever-evolving field of hardware engineering.

Report of the Shakespeare Talent Examinations

On 8th January 2024, the Department of English (Aided), Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil in collaboration with Shakespeare Publications, Chennai conducted its annual Written Shakespeare Talent Exam, an assessment designed to evaluate students' understanding of William Shakespeare's literary works and their ability to analyze and interpret them through writing. The exam aimed to foster appreciation for Shakespearean literature and to assess students' proficiency in literary analysis and critical thinking. The Written Shakespeare Talent Exam witnessed active participation from students showcasing the widespread interest in Shakespearean literature within the college community. Students from diverse backgrounds and levels eagerly participated, demonstrating their enthusiasm for literature and their willingness to engage with complex literary texts. The exam comprised a series of written tasks that tested students' knowledge, analytical skills, and ability to articulate their ideas effectively. Participants were required to respond to questions related to Shakespearean plays, characters, themes, and literary devices.

Report on "Resilience and Innovation: Celebrating the Power of African American Theatre"

Topic: Resilience and Innovation: Celebrating the Power of African American Theatre
Date: 04-12-2023

The session on "Resilience and Innovation: Celebrating the Power of African American Theatre" began with a welcome address and Dr. Anju, Assistant Professor, Government Arts and Science College, Uduma, Kasargod deliberated on African American Literature. Resilience and innovation intersect profoundly in the realm of African American theatre, showcasing the enduring spirit and creative ingenuity of a community overcoming adversity. The resource person highlighted the pioneering works of Lorraine Hansberry's "A Raisin in the Sun" and August Wilson's groundbreaking "Fences," and threw light on African American theatre. Through tumultuous times, these playwrights and performers have demonstrated resilience by persisting in the face of oppression and discrimination, while their innovative storytelling techniques have transformed the theatrical landscape. Celebrating African American theatre is not just honouring its past achievements but recognizing its ongoing ability to inspire, uplift, and provoke change. The session came to a close with a Vote of Thanks.

Report on the Online Lecture Series

Topic: Invisibility to Visibility: Maya Angelou, Toni Morrison, and Alice Walker
Date: 23.01.2024

The session on "Invisibility to Visibility: Maya Angelou, Toni Morrison, and Alice Walker" began with a welcome address and the deliberation by Ms. A. Anishya Dani, Assistant Professor of English, Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil. Maya Angelou, Toni Morrison, and Alice Walker, three iconic figures in American literature, have each played a pivotal role in shifting marginalized voices from invisibility to visibility. Through their powerful narratives and unapologetic exploration of race, gender, and identity, these literary luminaries have illuminated the struggles and triumphs of marginalized communities, bringing their experiences to the forefront of the literary landscape.

Maya Angelou's autobiographical works, including I Know Why the Caged Bird Sings, eloquently capture the struggles of African American women in the face of racism, sexism, and trauma. The resource person highlighted Angelou's candid storytelling and lyrical prose. Collectively, Maya Angelou, Toni Morrison, and Alice Walker have shattered barriers and challenged the status quo, paving the way for greater visibility and representation of marginalized voices in literature. Their enduring legacies remind us of the importance of amplifying diverse perspectives and honouring the humanity of all individuals, regardless of race, gender, or background. Through their literary contributions, they have transformed invisibility into visibility, ensuring that the stories of the marginalized are heard and celebrated. The session came to an end with a Vote of Thanks.

THE CULTURAL TURN TO THE SEA IN THE LATE EIGHTEENTH AND EARLY NINETEENTH CENTURIES

- The Mediterranean Sea was an organizing concept for ancient historians, and recently Atlantic history has become an established part of early modern scholarship, with the Pacific looming large in contemporary studies.
- Rachel Carson wrote in The Sea Around Us (1951) that humans were destined to return to the sea from which they had emerged eons earlier, but this time they would do so "mentally and imaginatively." (Carson 24)

Report on the Online Lecture Series

Topic: Blue Ecoeriticism and Ocean Imperatives: Understanding the Theory and Praxis of Blue Humanities in Modern Research

Date: 29.02.2024

Ms. Razeena, Asst. Professor of English, Sri Achutha Menon Govt. College, Thrissur delivered a lecture on "Blue Ecoeriticism and Ocean Imperatives: Understanding the Theory and Praxis of Blue Humanities in Modern Research" in the Online Lecture Series jointly organized by the Department of English, St. Aloysius College, St. Thomas College, and Holy Cross College (Autonomous), Nagercoil on 29.02.2024 via Google Meet.

Blue ecoeriticism and ocean imperatives represent critical paradigms in modern environmental discourse, fostering the emergence of blue humanities. Blue ecoeriticism delves into the literary and cultural representations of the ocean, exploring human relationships with marine ecosystems. Ocean imperatives highlight urgent calls for conservation and sustainability in oceanic environments. Together, they form the theoretical framework for blue humanities, emphasizing interdisciplinary approaches to comprehend and address marine issues. The resource person accentuated that modern research in this field integrates literature, history, science, and activism to promote oceanic preservation and advocate for environmental justice. Understanding these theories and praxis is pivotal for holistic marine stewardship in the face of pressing ecological challenges. The session ended with questions and answers and a Vote of Thanks.

WHY DO I LEARN A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

- Studying a foreign language will improve your chances of getting a job
- Foreign languages provide a competitive edge in career choices: one can communicate in a second language
- Foreign language study enhances one's opportunities in government, business, medicine, law, technology, military, industry, marketing, etc.
- Studying a foreign language will help you to pursue your higher studies in that country

UNE LANGUE DIFFÉRENTE EST UNE VISION DIFFÉRENTE DE LA VIE

Report on the "Know Your Economy Test

Date : 1-4-2024

"Know Your Economy Test" was an inter-departmental examination conducted to assess participants' understanding of Indian economy concepts and general knowledge. Organized with the aim of enhancing awareness and knowledge among students, the This test provided a platform for individuals to showcase their proficiency in economic matters and current affairs. To gauge participants' knowledge and comprehension of key concepts related to the Indian economy, including macroeconomic indicators, economic policies, and recent developments. To foster an environment of learning and intellectual engagement among students and faculty members across various departments. To promote interdisciplinary understanding and collaboration by bringing together individuals from diverse academic backgrounds. To encourage participants to stay informed about current events, government initiatives, and economic trends shaping the Indian economy. To recognize and reward outstanding performance in the test, thereby motivating participants to deepen their understanding of economic issues. The test was designed to assess participants' knowledge, analytical skills, and ability to apply economic concepts to real-world scenarios. It featured questions of varying difficulty levels to accommodate participants with different levels of expertise and academic backgrounds. The Department of Economics in Collaboration with Scientific Research Association for Economics and Finance (SRAEF), Chennai conducted a competition on "Know Your Economy Test for 88 students of the Department of Economics and Commerce on 1st April 2024 through a written test.
