TECHNICAL FEST-EXHIBITION ON ENERGY CONSERVATION IN COMMEMORATING NATIONAL ENERGY CONSERVATION DAY

Department of Physics in association with the Institution Innovation Council and Holy Cross Innovation and Incubation Centre jointly organized a Science exhibition commemorating National Energy Conservation Day on the topic “ENERGY CONSERVATION” on 14.12.2021 at room no 19, Holy Cross College, Nagercoil. This programme is entirely student-centric activity. As a whole, II B.Sc Physics students were entirely participated with full enthusiasm. Nearly 200 students benefitted from this exhibition. In addition to the students of the physics department, some of the interdisciplinary students also benefitted from it. This exhibition aims to bring awareness among the students to conserve energy and thereby create the innovative talents of our students through their exhibits. Some of the exhibits were related to dual-energy conservation, geothermal energy, concrete based on rainwater absorption, innovations in sources of wind energy, etc. It is the need of the hour to bring awareness to the future citizens of our country.

The programme started at 9:15 am with a prayer song by II Physics Students A. Abisha Mary, V. Akshalyn Ramya, T. Delbin Grace, and J. Jisha Francy. S.Sakthi, II B.Sc Physics was the moderator of the programme. Dr. (Sr.) Anne Perpet Sophy, Principal and the President of the Institution’s Innovation Council felicitated the gathering with her encouraging and motivating words. She congratulated every student of II B.Sc Physics for their innovative and creative models of exhibits. She also appreciated the organizing staff members Dr. M. Abila Jeba Queen and Dr. R. Krishna Priya for coordinating and motivating the students. The programme came to an end at 12.15 pm.

WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY- E-QUIZ

In celebration of World Environment Day, the Department of Botany organized an engaging and informative E-Quiz aimed at raising awareness about environmental issues and promoting sustainable practices. Held on June 5, 2021, the quiz provided participants with an opportunity to test their knowledge of environmental science, conservation efforts, and biodiversity while fostering a spirit of environmental stewardship. The E-Quiz attracted participation from a diverse range of individuals, including students, faculty members, environmental enthusiasts, and community members interested in environmental conservation and sustainability. Participants hailed from various academic disciplines and geographical locations, reflecting the global significance of World Environment Day. The World Environment Day E-Quiz organized by the Department of Botany served as a valuable initiative to commemorate and celebrate the importance of environmental conservation and sustainability. By leveraging technology and innovation, the quiz engaged participants in a meaningful dialogue about environmental challenges and opportunities, inspiring collective action and stewardship for a healthier and more resilient planet.
